Our Story

Aandré Amelie — All Shades, All Souls

Beauty is not defined by one shade, one tradition, or one ideal.

It is found in diversity, in authenticity, and in the stories that make each of us unique.

At Aandré Amelie, we believe skincare is more than a daily ritual—it is an expression of self-love, confidence, and respect for nature. Every product we create is inspired by the belief that beauty flourishes when people, nature, and craftsmanship exist in harmony.

Our philosophy is beautifully captured in our promise:

All Shades. All Souls.

It is a celebration of every skin tone, every texture, every journey, and every soul. Because true beauty is never about changing who you are—it is about revealing the healthiest, most radiant version of yourself.

The Meaning Behind Aandré Amelie

The name Aandré Amelie represents the perfect balance of two timeless forces.

Aandré embodies the warmth, strength, confidence, and life-giving energy of the sun.

Amelie reflects the calm, grace, intuition, and serenity of the moon.

In our identity, Aandré and Amelie stand back-to-back—not in opposition, but in unwavering support of one another. Their connection symbolizes trust, acceptance, equality, and unconditional respect. They remind us that beauty exists not in perfection, but in embracing every contrast that makes us human.

Just as the sun and moon share the same sky, we believe every individual deserves skincare that respects their unique skin rather than trying to change it.

This belief shapes every decision we make—from the ingredients we source to the way every product is handcrafted.

Inspired by Nature. Crafted by Hands.

Nature has always been the world's greatest formulator.

Across India's fertile farms bloom fragrant roses, healing herbs, nourishing seeds, and precious botanicals that have cared for generations. We honour this heritage by creating Luxury Organic Skincare using Farmer Sourced Ingredients that are carefully harvested at their peak freshness.

Every flower is handpicked.

Every botanical is thoughtfully selected.

Every ingredient is chosen for its purity, effectiveness, and respect for nature.

Our commitment to Farm to Face Skincare ensures that every formulation begins where nature is at its purest and reaches your skin with its goodness preserved.

Small Batches. Exceptional Care.

We believe true luxury cannot be mass-produced.

Every André Amélie formulation is lovingly prepared in Small Batch Skincare collections to preserve freshness, potency, and quality.

Our artisans carefully blend premium botanical oils, herbal extracts, floral waters, and plant-based actives using time-honoured craftsmanship combined with modern skincare science.

Each bottle is filled with intention.

Each jar is inspected by hand.

Each product reflects our promise of uncompromising excellence.

Because exceptional skincare deserves exceptional care.

Empowering Farmers. Supporting Families.

Behind every Aandré Amelie product is a community of dedicated farmers, artisans, and skilled craftspeople.

By choosing traditional handcrafting over industrial automation, we help create sustainable employment opportunities for farming families and rural communities across India.

Every harvest supports livelihoods.

Every handcrafted product preserves traditional skills.

Every purchase contributes to a future where ethical business and conscious beauty grow together.

When you choose Aandré Amelie, you are choosing products created with purpose—not just profit.

Our Philosophy — All Shades, All Souls

Our philosophy extends beyond skincare.

It is about embracing diversity.

Honouring individuality.

Celebrating every skin tone.

Respecting every journey.

Supporting every community.

We believe skincare should never ask you to become someone else.

Instead, it should help your natural beauty shine with confidence.

Whether your skin is dry, oily, sensitive, mature, or youthful, our formulations are thoughtfully created to nourish, restore, and protect while respecting your skin's natural balance.

Because every shade deserves care.

Every soul deserves kindness.

Our Promise

Every Aandré Amelie product is thoughtfully created with unwavering commitment to purity, quality, and sustainability.

More Than Skincare

Aandré Amelie is more than an Artisan Skincare Brand.

It is a movement toward conscious living.

A celebration of diversity.

A commitment to ethical craftsmanship.

A tribute to India's botanical heritage.

And a promise that beauty should always be inclusive, sustainable, and authentic.

Every drop carries the warmth of the sun.

Every fragrance whispers the calm of the moon.

Every product tells the story of nature, craftsmanship, and humanity coming together.

Aandré Amelie

All Shades. All Souls.

Luxury Organic Skincare, handcrafted with nature's finest botanicals, created in small batches, and inspired by the belief that every shade is beautiful and every soul deserves to shine.

Thoughtful Packaging and Design

Our packaging and designs use warm and cool tones, blending the colors of a sunrise and sunset, to remind you of the connection between all things—the cycles of nature, the balance within us, and the beauty of diversity. The heart symbol above our name represents our commitment to love and inclusivity, ensuring that everyone who encounters Aandré Amelie feels valued and cared for.

The Visual Story of Aandré Amelie

The elements of our visual story—the crescent moon and bright sun—symbolize the journey your skin takes throughout the day and night. Aandré Amelie offers products that are as adaptable and dynamic as your skin's needs, whether you're looking for the invigorating power of the day or the soothing calm of the night.

A Ritual of Self-Expression and Self-Love

Aandré Amelie is where skincare becomes a ritual of self-expression and self-love, where every product is a celebration of your unique beauty. We are here to support and enhance the natural glow of all shades and all souls.

Our Promise to You

Why Aandre Amelie? Handpicked Ingredients

We work with Indian farmers and farming families who carefully harvest roses, herbs, oils, and botanicals at peak freshness to preserve their natural potency.

Small-Batch Production

Unlike mass-produced cosmetics, our small-batch skincare is crafted in limited quantities to maintain exceptional quality, freshness, and attention to detail.

Handmade with Purpose

Every jar, balm, and serum is handcrafted by skilled artisans, creating meaningful employment opportunities for rural communities and women-led households.

Clean & Conscious Beauty

Our formulations are paraben-free, sulfate-free, cruelty-free, and free from harsh chemicals, designed for healthy, radiant skin.

Our Farm-to-Face Promise

At Aandre Amelie, skincare begins in the fields. We partner with small Indian farms where red roses, herbs, and botanical ingredients are grown naturally and harvested by hand. This direct relationship allows us to support farming families while ensuring every ingredient reaches your skin at its freshest and most effective.

When you choose Aandre Amelie, you support real farmers, real artisans, and a more sustainable beauty industry.

Brand Story

Aandre Amelie is a premium organic skincare brand in India dedicated to creating handmade, chemical-free skincare using handpicked botanical ingredients. Inspired by the richness of Indian farms and traditional craftsmanship, our products are made in small batches to preserve freshness, purity, and performance. By choosing handwork over mass production, we help create sustainable employment for farmers, artisans, and their families while delivering luxury skincare that is kind to your skin and the planet.

about part2

Our Story

Aandré Amelie

All Shades. All Souls.

Before there was a bottle...
there was a flower.

Before there was a formulation...
there was a farmer.

Before there was a brand...
there was a belief.

A belief that beauty was never meant to fit into one definition.

It was meant to bloom in every shade, every face, every heart, and every soul.

That belief became Aandré Amelie.

The Sun. The Moon. The Soul.

Every dawn begins with the sun.

Every night finds peace beneath the moon.

Neither competes.

Neither seeks to outshine the other.

Yet together, they complete the sky.

This timeless harmony inspired our name.

Aandré is the warmth of the sun—hope, courage, vitality, and the light that awakens life.

Amelie is the grace of the moon—calm, wisdom, gentleness, and quiet strength.

They stand back to back, not because they are apart, but because they trust each other completely.

One protects while the other shines.

One listens while the other speaks.

One gives warmth while the other brings peace.

Together they remind us that beauty is never found in sameness.

It is born from balance.

And just as the sky welcomes both the sun and the moon, we welcome every shade and every soul.

Where Beauty Truly Begins

Our story does not begin in a laboratory.

It begins in the heart of India's fields.

As morning light kisses the earth, farmers walk gently through blooming roses, fragrant herbs, healing leaves, and precious botanicals.

Every flower is chosen by hand.

Every leaf is touched with care.

Every harvest is gathered with gratitude.

Not because it is easier.

But because nature deserves patience.

We know every ingredient carries more than fragrance or nourishment.

It carries the dreams of the people who grew it.

The wisdom of generations.

The silent prayers whispered over fertile soil.

When we receive these botanicals, we don't see raw materials.

We see lives.

We see families.

We see stories waiting to become part of yours.

From Their Hands to Yours

There is something deeply beautiful about human hands.

The hands that sow seeds into the earth.

The hands that patiently wait through changing seasons.

The hands that harvest each bloom at just the right moment.

The hands that gently blend every botanical into skincare that honours its natural purity.

And finally...

Your hands.

The hands that open each bottle.

Massage each drop into your skin.

Pause for a quiet moment.

And remember that caring for yourself is never selfish.

It is an act of gratitude.

From the hands that grow...

To the hands that create...

To the hands that glow...

Every Aandré Amelie product carries a journey of love.

Luxury That Gives Back

We chose the slower path.

Not because it is easy.

But because it is right.

Our skincare is handcrafted in small batches so every ingredient retains its freshness, purity, and natural vitality.

By choosing skilled hands over machines, we create opportunities for farmers, artisans, and families whose craftsmanship deserves to flourish.

Every purchase becomes more than skincare.

It becomes hope for a farmer.

Respect for an artisan.

A future for a family.

Because we believe luxury should never exist without compassion.

All Shades. All Souls.

These four words are more than our philosophy.

They are our promise.

A promise that beauty has no colour.

No age.

No gender.

No boundaries.

No perfect definition.

Only authenticity.

Whether your skin tells the story of youth or wisdom...

Whether it reflects sunshine, rain, laughter, or resilience...

It deserves to be cared for with kindness.

Nature never compares one flower to another.

Neither do we.

Our Promise

Every André Amélie creation is thoughtfully handcrafted using nature's finest botanicals, ethically sourced from Indian farms and lovingly prepared in small batches.

We believe in skincare that is clean, conscious, cruelty-free, and deeply respectful of both people and the planet.

Every formula is created to nourish your skin.

Every ingredient is chosen to honour nature.

Every product is crafted to celebrate you.

This Is Our Legacy

Long after the last drop has been used...

We hope what remains is not simply healthy skin.

We hope it is the feeling that somewhere...

A farmer smiled because their harvest found a home.

An artisan felt pride because their craft was valued.

Nature was respected rather than exploited.

And you discovered that beauty isn't something you wear.

It is something you live.

Aandré Amelie

All Shades. All Souls.

From the first ray of the sun... to the quiet glow of the moon... from the hands that nurture the earth... to the hands that cherish your skin... every Aandré Amelie creation is a reminder that true beauty is born in harmony—with nature, with humanity, and with yourself.

Heart to Heart maan ki baat

Letter from founder

Luxury isn't created in a factory. It begins with a seed, a sunrise, and the hands that nurture nature.

Every Aandre Amelie product starts long before it reaches your skincare shelf. It begins in the quiet fields of India, where farmers rise with the morning sun to carefully tend their crops. Roses are handpicked at the perfect bloom, herbs are harvested at their peak, and every botanical is selected with patience rather than haste.

We believe the finest ingredients deserve the gentlest touch. That's why we choose handpicked botanicals over mechanical harvesting whenever possible. It preserves the purity of nature while creating meaningful employment for farming families and rural artisans whose knowledge has been passed down through generations.

Once the ingredients arrive at our workshop, the real craftsmanship begins.

Every formula is thoughtfully prepared in small batches. We never rush the process because nature cannot be hurried. Each ingredient is measured with care, blended with precision, and inspected to ensure it meets the standards we proudly call Aandre Amelie.

Every jar is filled by hand. Every bottle is checked individually. Every label is placed with intention. Every package is prepared as if it were a gift.

Behind every product is a team that believes skincare should nourish more than skin. It should support livelihoods, celebrate traditional craftsmanship, and respect the environment that provides these precious botanicals.

Choosing Aandre Amelie means choosing more than organic skincare. It means supporting Indian farmers, empowering skilled artisans, and embracing a slower, more thoughtful way of creating beauty.

Because true luxury is not mass-produced.

It is cultivated in the fields, crafted by hands, perfected in small batches, and shared with love.

Heart to Heart maan ki baat

Letter from founder

It is a joy to welcome you into the Aandre Amelie family.

We are deeply moved that you have chosen to join us on this path of mindful self-care. Whether this is your first encounter with our creations or you have already embraced them, your presence is cherished.

For too long, the search for authentic beauty has been clouded by endless shelves of synthetic promises and complex labels. I found myself searching for something rarer: skincare that respects the sanctity of our bodies and the natural world, free from the noise of unrealistic claims.

That search became the seed for Aandre Amelie.

Our philosophy is rooted in a quiet simplicity: merging the raw vitality of nature with thoughtful formulation. We believe beauty is found in the confidence of healthy skin and the peace that comes from making intentional choices every day.

Before any formula leaves our workshop, we pause to ask:

"Is this a gift we would offer to those we love most?"

If the answer is anything less than a heartfelt "yes," the process begins anew, guided by patience rather than haste.

Drawing from the ancient wisdom of Ayurveda, we blend handpicked botanicals—from the soothing essence of Lavender Hydrosol and Rose Water to the healing touch of Kumkumadi Oil and Aloe Vera. Every batch is a careful harmony of tradition and practicality.

Yet, this journey extends beyond the jar.

We are cultivating a community where knowledge is shared as a form of nourishment. Through our guides, we hope to empower you with an understanding of ingredients and the art of DIY rituals, helping you navigate wellness with clarity.

Our true purpose lies in earning your trust through every conversation and every drop of oil, honoring the connection between people and the earth.

As we grow, our core remains unchanged:

Purity over shortcuts. Honesty over trends. Livelihoods over profits.

Your belief in us is our most precious harvest, and we carry that responsibility in every package we prepare.

Thank you for allowing Aandre Amelie to be a part of your daily sunrise and your evening rest.

Together, let us honor the botanicals that sustain us and the intention that makes us whole.

With warmth,
